Royal Dragon's Blood is not a 1:1 product (50% alcohol-water and 50% sap). It is 99.9% sap with less than 1% alcohol, twice as strong as other preparations available.

OUR SOCIAL MISSION

Whole World Botanicals® offers Certified Organic and Wildcrafted botanicals. We are a positive force for environmental protection and support native and local people in sustaining their communities.

We offer economic assistance to native and local herb growers in the form of small interest free loans & grants and provide technical assistance related to organic farming. Whenever possible we buy directly from the growers or collectors at Fair Trade prices.

Specifically with Royal Dragon's Blood, we work with a trading partner who maintains a year-round, helping relationship with the remote Shipibo community, who tap their trees for this healing sap. Through the trading partner, we not only purchase the sap, but we also make seasonal financial contributions to help improve community life. One year, WWB paid for team uniforms & athletic shoes for both the girls' and boys' soccer teams. Soccer playing is a very important form of recreation in a settlement without TV, movies or computers.

Sangre de Grado or Dragon's Blood, is a wild-crafted resin that comes from the Croton lechleri trees found in the Amazon Rainforest of Peru.

Viana Muller, WWB Co-founder, inspecting Dragon's Blood trees, followed by community members, who are Shipibo Indians.

The tree's red, blood-like sap is rich in protective antioxidant polyphenols and anti-inflammatory compounds. These compounds help to protect the DNA cells of the skin exposed to the sun while reducing, swelling and pain. It also contains a group of compounds called proanthocyanidins that repair collagen and taspine, a known tissue-healing agent. The sap also demonstrates antibacterial, antiviral and antifungal activity.

TRADITIONAL USAGE

Indigenous tribes throughout Peru and Ecuador use Dragon's Blood internally for stomach ulcers and intestinal upset such as "traveler's diarrhea," and externally to stop bleeding and help heal wounds. Cuts, bites, burns, stings, warts, rashes, abrasions, sores, and wounds and other skin issues, such as repeated over-exposure to the sun, repeatedly benefit from the application of Dragon's Blood.

SCIENTIFIC STUDIES AND RESEARCH

Studies that date back to the late 1970s, concluded that Dragon's Blood sap stimulates the contraction of skin tissues and helps in the formation of a scab at the wound site, regenerating skin rapidly, and assists in the formation of new collagen. Noted author and former Director of Botany for the USOA, Dr. James Duke says that in comparison with other healing modalities, "Dragon's Blood was shown to speed healing four times faster."

A 2003 study* reported that Dragon's Blood was shown to be effective in the treatment of conditions for which it is traditionally used, including traveler's diarrhea, the itching, pain and swelling of insect bites, and other conditions.

WHERE DOES IT COME FROM?

Whole World Botanicals purchases Dragon's Blood from the Shipibo native people located in the remote Peruvian rainforest, only accessible by boat.

The land, which belongs to their entire community, contains Dragon's Blood trees that are cut in various places on the trunk to make them "bleed" their precious sap. This practice does not kill the tree.

EXPERIENCES WITH DRAGON'S BLOOD

*"I have been trekking in the Chilean Andes for decades and recently developed several pre-cancerous, very sore spots on my face and fingers. After two weeks of applying Royal Dragon's Blood twice a day, the spots cleared up nicely."

– Monica R., physical therapist, Santiago, Chile

*"I suffered a deep cut on my finger in a place where not much blood circulates. More than a month later, it was still not healed. Five days use of Royal Dragon's Blood healed it completely."

– A. C., plant pharmacologist

*"I suffered a deep burn on my wrist taking food out of the oven. Ten days later, it still wasn't healed. It was much better after two days of using Royal Dragon's Blood and totally fine in a week."

– Sophis A., N.Y.

*"I had bumps all over my face – skin eruptions that happen to me from time to time. Using Royal Dragon's Blood cleared it up much more quickly than anything else I've tried."

– Christine S.

*"My veterinarian was amazed that my animals had no parasites, even though I used no conventional wormers. A few drops of Royal Dragon's Blood in the water bowl two or three times a week had not only helped heal my cat's infected gums, but was now proving to be an anti-parasite treatment as well. It also worked beautifully to heal her incision after spaying. I used 15 drops in water for my 21-year-old Arabian Appaloosa. He never needed worming. And 10 drops once a month in my wolf dog's water bowl kept him parasite free, even though he was fed mostly raw meat."
